

Rhode Island Board of Examiners in Podiatry 2021 Annual Report

FEBRUARY 2022

Introduction

The United States continues to find itself in a syndemic, where the interaction of the pandemic, overdose crisis, behavioral health crisis, in the context of a nation struggling with addressing systemic racism continues to deeply affect all aspects of all of our lives.

The pandemic continues to define many aspects of life in Rhode Island including healthcare. As Rhode Island approaches 2 years of the pandemic, every aspect of health care has been affected. Although safe and effective vaccines have been in place for over a year and widely available since April 25th, 2021, the vaccine uptake has been less than needed to quell the pandemic. As the Board of Examiners in Podiatry (Board) continues to navigate its mission to protect the public and ensure high professional standards, it does so in the overwhelming shadow of the impact of the pandemic.

In spite of working under extraordinary conditions, the Board only had to cancel its April meeting in 2021. Staffing continues to be an issue for the Board as continued erosion of funding has challenged extant staff with increased workload and diminishing resources. The staffing issues in 2021 were exacerbated by increased staff turnover in licensing as this position is a “temporary position” and has been so the last 7 years.

The efforts of licensing Boards are often unnoticed and perhaps more so during a pandemic, yet licensing Podiatrists was more important than ever, as hospitals, ambulatory care centers and other physician services struggled to find qualified staff. Assurance of a competent workforce is one the 10 essential public health services recognized by the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC)¹. Board members possess unique technical expertise and function within a Just Culture as they exercise this duty.

The mission of the Board is to protect the public through enforcement of standards for medical licensure and ongoing clinical competence. The Board has five members, four of whom are podiatrists and one who is a public member. Board members receive no compensation of any type for their hours of service annually.

Revenue

License fees account for the majority of revenue for the state as reflected in the table., all revenue is deposited in the General Treasury account. Podiatrist licenses are renewed every two years, so revenue varies significantly between renewal cycles. Revenue is also generated by fees paid to renew controlled substance registrations. There is a fee for verification of a Rhode Island Podiatrist license which sends real-time license verification to state medical boards as requested. RIDOH does offer primary source verification at no charge, at <https://healthri.mylicense.com/verification/>

The Board is not authorized to issue fines for disciplinary actions and is one of the few states in the country that lacks this authority. The Board does have the authority to issue administrative fees which reflect the actual cost of investigating a complaint.

Conclusion

The weight of the syndemic falls heavy on all who live in Rhode Island and the United States. We are living in a critical time, where the value of public health delivered in a just, objective manner is more important than ever, yet continues to face the perpetual challenges of staffing and resources to accomplish its mission. The Board, as part of RIDOH endeavors to effectively protect the public in a dynamic health care environment.
